engaged to give two concerts in Norfolk the last of November.

Mr. Francis Curley and niece, of Belfast, Ireland, who have been visiting their relatives, Mr. J. L. Curley and family, of No. 22 South Pine Street, expect to reach home to-day, having sailed the 9th on the White Star liner Cedric. They visited many places of interest in Virginia; also Washington, Niagara, Toronto, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and New York. Mr. Curley expressed himself as being highly pleased with the country, and more so with the people.

Mrs. Preston Roper, of Petersburg, gave a dinner Thursday in honor of Mrs. Louis Merriam, the guest during the Horse Show of Miss Ruby Bodeker, in this city.

The dinner took place in the beautiful home of Mrs. Roper, on Sycamore Street, Petersburg. Decorations were La France roses and palms.

Mrs. A. S. Baker, of Scranton, Pa., who is visiting Mrs. R. G. Blanton, on West Franklin Street, attended the Horse Show Friday evening in a Paris gown of erangoed chiffon, over white silk. Her hat was of white lace, with white plumes.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Deane Meanley took in the pleasures of the Horse Show from start to finish. Saturday evening Mrs. Meanley wore a black jet robe, large black picture hat and diamonds. Her sister, Miss Morrison, had on an embroidered mull over blue silk, with white lace hat. After the performance Mr. Meanley gave a delightful supper to some friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Starke Burke, of Staunton, are spending Horse Show week at the Jefferson. They have a box party at all the performances. Friday evening Mrs. Burke wore an embroidered white silk gown, above white silk, a picture hat and diamond ornaments. Mrs. Ben Nash, who was in Mrs. Burke's box, wore a black net, with embroidered bands, and a black Gainsborough hat.

Among the most beautiful of the visiting girls to the Horse Show is Miss Berkeley Ellison, of Newport News, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ellison. She is accompanied by her brother, Mr. J. Kemper Ellison, who is stopping at the Jefferson.

Mrs. Marshall J. Payne, of Staunton, a former Richmond resident, was in the city last week.

Miss Alexandra Schuyler Hamilton entertained little Misses Anne Roy, Helen and Nicketti Johnson, the little daughters of Dr. and Mrs. George Ben Johnson, in the Hamilton box at the Horse Show matinee yesterday.

Mrs. Taylor Blackley, of Louisville, Ky., accompanied by her son, Norman, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Vera Winston, of No. 224 Floyd Avenue.

Miss Ida Branch, of Charlotte county, is visiting Mrs. J. L. Branch, No. 224 Floyd Avenue.

Mr. Willie Branch, Misses Ida Branch and Aubrey Sugg are the guests of Mrs. J. L. Branch, of No. 224 Floyd Avenue.

Miss Jean Katherine Mercer, who has been visiting her home, in Williamsburg, returned Tuesday for the Horse Show. Miss Mercer will spend the winter at Mrs. Duval's, No. 301 East Franklin Street.

Miss Annie G. Collins, of Bowling Green, who has been the guest of Mrs. W. J. Peyton, during Horse Show week, will leave for home to-morrow.

Mrs. Fannie Dew returned home Saturday, after spending a delightful week with her sister, Mrs. L. O. Miller, of No. 305 East Grace Street.

Miss Jennie Loram, one of Richmond's attractive daughters, is visiting friends in Rivermont, Lynchburg, Va.

Miss Emma E. Perkins returned home Tuesday after spending a delightful summer at the beautiful home of Judge but for those who prefer it board can be had in private houses, where they will be comfortably cared for, all most accessible to convention hall.

"Parties desiring to secure board in advance can do so by communicating with Mrs. Ida M. Lining, No. 32 George Street, Charleston, S. C., chairman of Committee on Information. Please be explicit in stating how many ladies will be willing to occupy one room. Mrs. Lining and her committee will gladly find accommodations for all coming.

"MARTHA B. WASHINGTON, "HENRIETTA G. MURDOCH, "MARY B. FOPPENHEIM, "MRS. W. W. SIMONE."

Personal Mention.

The many friends of Mrs. Bessie Miller Oton, the sister of Mrs. Russell Cecil, who spent last winter here with Mrs. Cecil, will read with pleasure the following paragraph, which appeared in the Atlanta Journal of Sunday, October 12, 1903:

"The return to Atlanta of Mrs. Bessie Miller Oton is of pleasurable interest to many in the city. Mrs. Oton made her first appearance Friday night at the reception at the First Presbyterian Church, where she was heard in several readings. It was a delightful literary treat. There were many at the reception who readily recognized Mrs. Oton as the clever little woman who, eight years ago, was so closely identified with the higher education in the leading Atlanta schools. She is a renowned dramatic reader and impersonator, having been heard time and again in the large cities in the North and South.

"On account of the severe climate of the Northern States her physicians have ordered her South, and she will spend the winter in Atlanta. She is now with Mrs. Owens, No. 67 Walton Street."

A delightful event of the "Horse Show" week was a lunch party given by Mrs. A. J. Anderson at her home, on East Broad Street, Wednesday evening, in honor of her guest, Miss Myrtle Hechler, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Among those present were Mr. Charles V. Palmer and wife, Mr. Richard Talley and wife, Mr. E. S. Mitchell and wife, Miss Myrtle Hechler, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Eugenia Jacobs, of Camden, N. J.; Mr. E. H. Anderson and wife, Miss Elsie Anderson, Mr. Stanley Mason and wife, and Mr. W. P. Anderson.

This interesting game was played by all present until a late hour. At midnight refreshments were served, after a most enjoyable evening.

The return of Miss Edie Aylett Cofer from her five months' trip to Europe has been made doubly pleasant to her by the cordial greetings of her many friends.

Miss Cofer went abroad with a definite object in view, to the satisfactory accomplishment of which every event and experience happily conspired.

As previously arranged, she studied in London under Francon Davies and in Paris under Jacques Bouhy. These two names are as household words in the musical centers of Europe, and scarcely less so in this country. Bouhy is immensely wealthy, and hence the privilege of his personal instruction is considered a rare bit of fortune.

Upon completing her work, Miss Cofer visited Cologne, Berlin, Dresden and subsequently spent five weeks most delightfully and profitably in the great centers of travel in Switzerland and Italy, and in the full appreciation and enjoyment of their classic attraction.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Edwin Spencer, of New York city, celebrated the anniversary of their wedding on yesterday. Dinner was served at the Cafe Maria. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Cosby.

Among the ladies visiting in this city during the Horse Show, one of the handsomest is Mrs. H. L. Taylor, of Washington, D. C., who is a guest of Mrs. H. H. McVey, in Harrison Street. Mrs. Taylor was at the Horse Show Thursday night as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Ragland, and wore a superb costume of blue point d'esprit, white Parisian hat and a handsome emerald cape. She is the recipient of much social attention.

Miss Malet Burnett has been studying this summer in Paris with Moritz Moszkowski, the famous pianist and composer, and had very satisfactory work with him. The last two months of Miss Burnett's stay abroad were spent in Berlin with her much loved former teacher, Alexander Ralf. She returned here two years ago after three years abroad, and has been heard a number of times in piano recitals. She has a sympathetic touch and excellent technique, but, like every ambitious musician, she constantly aspires to higher standards.

Miss Cofer and Miss Burnett have been

Mrs. C. M. Painter, of Strasburg, Va., is the guest of Mrs. G. F. Shaver, of North Ninth Street.

Miss Mary Drake, of Clarksville, and Miss Cornelia Burgess, of Scottsville, are visiting the Misses Burgess, on North Ninth.

Judge and Mrs. Sidney Dudley and a large party of Hampton friends, including the Misses Booker, Messrs. Nelson, Blackford and others, came to Richmond Friday for the Horse Show, and were in the boxes Friday and Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Edwards have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Allie Dean, to Mr. Haskins A. Thomas, a prominent contractor and builder of Boston. The marriage will take place October 23rd, at the home of the bride's parents, Pleasant Grove, Va. Miss Allie Dean Edwards is a niece of Mrs. M. A. Ryan, of North Seventh Street, Richmond.

Mrs. Rose Hunter and her daughter, Mrs. Bowie, of Washington, D. C., are visiting relatives in Richmond. They are connections of Judge Dew.

Mrs. A. S. Baker, of Scranton, Pa.; Miss Nannie G. Willis, of Fredericksburg, Va., and Colonel and Mrs. H. B. Polk-horn are guests of the Misses Steel.

A missionary silver tea, to be given by Miss Nannie Pegram's Sunday-school class Monday night, at No. 1219 West Main Street, bids fair to be very enjoyable. The young ladies have arranged an attractive programme.

There will be vocal solos by Miss Dora Mitchell, Edna Blanton, Margaret Chapell, Josephine Tinsley, Mr. Wilbur Montgomery and Mr. Willie Pabbert.

Mr. Manly Ramos and Mr. I. D. Briggs will give several instrumental selections. All interested in missionary work are cordially invited to be present.

one of the greatest and most potent of hackney aires. The latter was personally selected in England and brought to Virginia by Mr. Fairfax, by whom he was sold a few years since to W. Seward Webb, of Vermont, for $15,000.

Richmond Horses Score.

At Wednesday's matinee, in class 35, for local horses and runabouts, John Kerr Branch carried off the blue with the nice chestnut gelding, Rosedale; J. T. Anderson was second, with the black gelding, Morning Glory; James H. Grant came third with the bay gelding, Tom hawk, and Carter W. Branch, with the half-bred hackney, Auburn II., a neatly turned chestnut daughter of Northern Light. Morning Glory, winner of the red ribbon in this class, was bred here by James Sutherland, and previous to being docked and added to the high-stepping brigade, was able to show quite a merry clip trotting. He was sired by Rebel, son of Norfolk, dam a gray mare, by F. F. V., son of Mambrino Patchen. This same F. F. V. was once owned by O. J. Schoolcraft, formerly of this city, and also sired Kitty, dam of the Laburnum Farm high jumper and hunter, Elevator. Class 35, for heavyweight green hunters, on the same afternoon, furnished a most interesting contest, the blue going to John Stewart Bryan's big bay gelding, Elevator, the second prize to W. E. Boeving's Tacolite, third to Garber and Garber's black mare, Margrave, and fourth to Harry C. Beattie's Deep Run, thoroughbred son of Kasson and Faustina.

Bred in Old Virginia.

Wednesday evening's performance furnished plenty of diversion, and Virginia-bred horses were again prominent. In class 23 the blue went to Dr. W. E. Woodend's crack show ring performer, the bay gelding, Maple Leaf, but Henry Fairfax's handsome mare, Fancy, by Danefort, was second; Walter Holladay's neatly turned bay gelding Kentucky Cardinal, by Fessler, third, while back of them came Miss Marian Holloway's America, another New York entry. Later the class for ladies' hunters came, and Charles Pfizer's New Jersey horse, Your Fellow, a winner at the big shows, with Miss Belle Beach up, was first, but right after came J. Stewart Bryan's gray gelding, Elevator, ridden by Miss Skelton, while Jack Henderson's Bo Bar was third, and J. B. McComb's Dodo was fourth. The latter was also ridden by Miss Skelton.

Following this came that for thoroughbred hunters, open to all, and Virginia horses made a clean sweep. The display was highly creditable and was well received. In the class open to all registered, qualified green hunters, L. D. Bassano, Jr., of Warrenton, took the blue ribbon with Colleen Bawn, a grand looking brown daughter of Tom Nicol; T. L. Evans, of the same place, got second, with the good looking brown gelding, Joker, by Clarendon; Harry C. Beattie, of this city, was third, with the bay gelding, Deep Run, and T. L. Evans, of Warrenton, fourth, with La Touraine, the handsome bay mare, by Yucatan, dam Margaret, by Sanford, son of Lexington. Deep Run, son of Kasson and Faustina, by Bolus, was bred by William Rueger, of this city, and La Touraine is a product of the stud of Marshall and Thompson, of Warrenton. La Touraine, with her owner, Mr. Evans, up, carried off first prize for lightweight hunters and jumpers on Thursday evening, and at the same performance, with Joker, was placed fourth in class 33 for pairs of hunters. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

The Hunting Class.

One of the most impressive sights of the week was the hunting class, best pairs of hunters, owned by exhibitor, and ridden abreast over the jumps. With riders attired in regulation pink coats, a spectacular scene was witnessed that brought forth prolonged applause as the pairs went over the jumps. The new pair, Chapple and Freen Lance, got the blue ribbon, and were ridden by Sidney Holloway and his sister, Miss Marian Holloway, while J. Stewart Bryan and David B. Tennant were put up on Elevator and Jubilee, and came second with the massive gray and the tall black, Amaret and Hornpipe, third, and T. L. Evans' pair of thoroughbreds, Joker and La Touraine, fourth. Class 32, for light weight hunters, followed, and T. L. Evans was able to score ahead of the well known Buck for the blue ribbon, but the latter was a good second, and well handled by Harry Beattie. The New Jersey horse, Your Fellow, was third, but C. W. Smith's chestnut gelding Chipmunk was fourth. Then followed a performance worth traveling a distance to look on, when the class for qualified heavy weight hunters was called. Charles H. Hur-kamp landed the gelding Amaret a winner. David B. Tennant's good looking, big black Jubilee was third and Mr. Hurkamp landed the roan Hornpipe, one of the best known and most popular horses ever shown here, fourth.

While at the Lynchburg Horse Show, C. W. Smith, of Warrenton, Va., sold to Courtland H. Smith, of the Hampton farm, Alexandria, Va., the bay gelding Garrett Riddle, thoroughbred son of Sidney and Madame Midas, by Outcast or Blue Eyes, and the horse was shipped with the balance of the Hampton stable to Chicago, where he is entered at the Horse Show. Garrett Riddle is a horse of commanding appearance and the size. The son of Sidney was entered in several of the classes for hunters and jumpers at the Richmond Horse Show and very likely would have figured as a blue ribbon winner.

Ladies' Jumpers.

Class 42, ladies' jumping class, on Friday evening, furnished grand sport. Miss Henry had the mount of Charles H. Hurkamp's Amaret, and the son of Young Brennan never performed better during his career. He got the blue ribbon, and with it an elegant silver cup. Mrs. Blair Johnson rode Grey Rock, another crack high jumper, and landed him in second place. Miss Belle Beach, of New York, was up on Your Fellow, and took third prize, and then Miss Skelton came fourth, with J. B. McComb's King Dodo. In his new role of lady's hunter Amaret plays the part well, and that he is a favorite with the Richmond audience is attested by the generous applause accorded him.

Henry C. Beattie, vice-president of the Horse Show, M. F. H. of the Deep Run Hunt Club, and expert cross country rider, was in good form and landed winners night after night. In his hands Luck, the chestnut gelding, by Rover, son of thoroughbred Abdel Kader, took his jumps in what seemed the best form of his very successful career, and won the Corinthian class for hunters on Friday evening. Luck, along with Edwain, Fairfind and others, of the Beattie stable, will be taken to the New York Horse Show, and are likely to carry off prize after prize in the classes for hunters and jumpers.

Out-of-Town Owners.

Among the out-of-town owners and breeders who spent the week here was William W. Bennett, whose farm is near Buchanan, Botetourt county, Va. Mr. Bennett owns the bay stallion, Bohemian, a thoroughbred son of Ten Broeck and Oleander, by Tipperary, and some choice brood mares. Bohemian has had access to very few thoroughbred mares, but by those of promiscuous breeding he is siring some high class hunters and jumpers. The bay geldings, Hawatha and Bo Bar, owned by Jack Henderson, of Orange, and exhibited here, are both by Bohemian. Some stiff offers have been refused for Hawatha and Bo Bar.

In the class for stallions, open to all hackney, thoroughbred, coach, trotting and pony stallions, Colonel Barton Haxall Grundy, of this city, exhibited a large, handsome horse in the French style, a chestnut stallion, named Bohemian, owned by John Gerken's Brandon, and back of them came W. H. West's King Brino and D. Eugene Black's Lord Chancellor, son of the famous Dare Devil, 2:30. The latter is a trotter, and was purchased of Village Farm, East Aurora, N. Y., by Dr. Block and brought to Newport News, Va.

One of the most popular of the lady riders was Mrs. Blair Johnson, of prize winners, who had the well known, foal, with both of whom she carried off prizes. Mrs. Johnson has ridden winners all along the line of open air shows and at the big rings in Madison Square Garden and other places.

The chestnut gelding, Red Rock, by Egwood, 2:18 1-2, bred and owned by W. Otto Nolting, carried off second and third prizes in the open air classes, and made a very good showing. In one of the contests he was cleverly handled by Colonel G. Percy Hawes and by his owner in the other.

BROAD ROCK.

An Outer View.

The Horse Show in Richmond has been a grand success. The stock has been of the finest quality from all directions, and the attendance has fully met the expectations of the management. In addition to the success as a great show it has also been a decided financial success—Fredrickburg Star.

Mrs. Pulaski Improving.

Mrs. H. Palaski, No. 1727 East Main Street, who was operated on at the Virginia Hospital yesterday, is improving rapidly.

GALT & BRO., JEWELLERS, SILVERSMITHS, STATIONERS,

1107 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C.

A BEVY OF FAIR SPONSORS.

The above are Sponsors and Maids of Honor to the Confederate Reunion in Newport News.

MISS LAURA MILLER and MISS RUBY HAMNER are splendid types of the fair young womanhood of Lynchburg, selected both for the heritage of Confederate arms they bear as well as their own personal attractions.

MISS ANNIE CHURCHILL BERKELEY, the beautiful daughter of Colonel and Mrs. L. C. Berkey of Danville, who has been appointed Sponsor from the Fifth District. Miss Berkeley is one of the season's handsome debutantes and one of the most attractive of Danville's younger society set.

General James Macgill, Grand Commander of the Grand Camp of Confederate Veterans of Virginia, has appointed MISS ROSALIE MARTIN WILLIAMS, of Wytheville, Sponsor for the Ninth Congressional District to the coming meeting of the Grand Camp at Newport News, and has also appointed MRS. LUCY PEN-DETON LEAVELL as Miss Williams' Matron of Honor.

MISS WILLIAMS is a daughter of Judge Samuel W. Williams, one of the most prominent attorneys of Southwest Virginia. Judge Williams is Assistant Inspector-General for the Grand Camp for the Ninth District. At the beginning of the war, when but a mere child, he volunteered in a Pennsylvania company under Judge Berryman Green, of Danville, and served throughout the war. At its conclusion he came to Southwest Virginia, where he has forced his way to the front in law and politics by the force of his energy and ability. The appointment of his daughter as Sponsor for the district is a most happy selection.

MRS. LUCY P. LEAVELL is a daughter of Mr. Robert N. Pendleton, of Wytheville, and a great-niece of General Pendleton, of Confederate artillery fame. Her father was a student of Washington and Lee University at the outbreak of the war and left his books to fight for the South. He served with gallantry throughout the war, and afterwards came to Wytheville, where he has since lived. Mrs. Leavell is closely connected with the Lees, Pages, and many other families whose names have made Virginia history.

MRS. ROSALIND ROBERTS EVANS, of Salem, Va., the Sponsor of the Confederate Camp of the Sixth District to the sixteenth annual meeting of the Grand Camp, is the daughter of Captain T. A. Roberts, who commanded Company A, Twenty-second Virginia Regiment in the civil war, and is one of Virginia's best-known daughters of the Confederacy.

Always an enthusiastic worker for the benefit of the needy ones who were in the ranks of the Lost Cause, she has endeared herself to all the veterans who know her. Several beautiful and elaborate Confederate benefit entertainments have been given in her native town under her supervision, and each of them proved a splendid success.

Mrs. Evans is at present interested in the movement to erect a monument at Salem to commemorate the deeds of valor and to perpetuate the memory of the Confederate soldiers of Roanoke county. Mrs. Evans has also been appointed Sponsor for the Hupp-Deysie Camp at Salem.
